In Case You Missed It: Last Friday's Social Hour - Jane Knowlton, owner of the Oakland Flour Mill and President of the Oakland Economic Department

Jane Knowlton presented to over 20 attendees a fascinating overview of Oakland Flour Mill Antiques and Gifts, which hosts 10-15 different vendors selling everything from vintage dresses, bell bottoms, menswear, glasses and dishes, shoes, hats, jewelry, scarves, records, books, cameras, metal tools, mid-century modern decor, and much more! She and her husband visit estate and garage sales to discover hidden gems, and enjoy finding new homes through their shop for these treasures.

Jane informed us that the best days to catch most of the Oakland shops open are Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays. She also introduced us to upcoming events - visit the Oakland Oregon Historic District Facebook Page (no account required) at www.facebook.com/OaklandOregon/ for the latest updates and events. Oakland has a number of city parks, including a disc golf course! Learn more about Oakland's parks at www.oaklandoregon.org/parks.html

Thank you Sharon Elliott for bringing such fascinating, enjoyable, and informative speakers to our park and for a lively weekly social hour!
