What Do Evacuation Levels Mean?

Brought to you by your Emergency Preparedness Committee

During wildfire season, you may hear emergency officials refer to Evacuation Levels 1, 2, or 3. Many of us received a Level 1 alert last Sunday due to the nearby fire. These levels are used throughout Oregon to help residents understand how urgent a situation is and what actions to take.

Knowing these levels ahead of time can reduce stress and help you respond quickly if needed.

Here is what each level means:

Level 1: BE READY

This is your early warning.

- Be aware of the situation and monitor alerts
- Review your evacuation plan
- Gather important items and prepare your Go Kit
- Check in with family members and neighbors

Level 2: BE SET

There is significant danger nearby. Be prepared to leave at a moment's notice.

- Pack your vehicle and be ready to go
- Keep your phone charged and alerts on
- Move pets and livestock to a safe location if possible
- Stay informed and be ready to leave quickly

Level 3: GO NOW

This means leave immediately. Do not delay.

- Leave your home or RV as soon as possible
- Follow recommended evacuation routes
- Do not take time to gather additional belongings
- Help neighbors if you can do so safely

Emergency responders may not be able to assist further once a Level 3 evacuation is issued. Leaving early is the safest choice.

Understanding these levels helps protect your safety and the safety of first responders and neighbors.

USDA Spongy Moth Survey Underway

USDA personnel may be placing green "milk carton" traps or triangular delta traps in our area as part of an ongoing survey for the invasive spongy moth. These traps are designed to attract only male moths and are safe around people, pets, and wildlife. If you see a trap, please do not disturb it. Spongy moth caterpillars can damage hundreds of tree species, and early detection helps prevent their spread.
